Death of S. S. Brooks.

S. S. Brooks, aged 79 years, died at his home on North Fisher street Thursday night of last week, his disease being a chronic case of catarrh of the bladder. He leaves a wife, one son and one daughter. The family moved here last winter from Proctor having purchased the property formerly owned by Otto Kuhn.

Deceased had been suffering from complications brought about through his troublesome disease and death came as a relief. He was of Eastern birth, having been born in Boston, Mass., but had lived in Morgan county a number of years, his daughter being the wife of H. T. Talbott of Proctor.

The funeral was conducted from the family residence last Saturday morning, the remains being interred in the city cemetery. Mrs. Brooks, the aged wife, will make her home with her daughter at Proctor. The family entertain the sympathy of this community in this hour of their deep sorrow.

"Clean Up the Fifth."

The above is the caption to a public notice issued through the Board of Health by Mayor Forman to the citizens of Versailles this week as follows:

"All citizens of the city of Versailles are requested to clean up their premises, and special attention should be given to disinfecting closets and all places where disease breeding material exists. Lime and crude carbolic acid should be used liberally. By doing this we may save our citizens from serious epidemics of fevers and other diseases which are caused by fifth.

"If not done the city will be compelled to take the matter in hand and enforce the ordinance on the subject by prosecution.

WM. FORMAN, Mayor.

This warning by the Mayor is very timely at this season and should be carried out by every citizen to the letter. The great amount of wet weather we have had this summer leaves much decayed substance in every quarter, all of which contains more or less disease breeding germs, hence it stands every one in hand to protect themselves against epidemics caused from impurities and filth by renovating their premises thoroughly. "A stitch in time saves nine," is an old but fitting adage in this instance.

EXCHANGE NOTES.

The Kingston Mercury calls Sunday base ball "unholy." Well there are usually a number of 900 on the tally sheets in games played.

The Herman Advertiser-Courier says that there has been so much wet weather this season that the Gasconade farmers are becoming web footed.

A man who once lived in Kansas, but died last week in Kentucky, provided in his will that his body be sent back to Kansas for burial. He evidently was not a bourbon.

The eleven tramps who were run out of a barn in Saline county the other night by a stroke of lightning passed resolutions denouncing the farmer for not providing it with lightning rods.

The Lebanon Republican rises to defend the telephone "Central." "If a telephone girl should really hear all the gossip that goes over the wires," it says, "she would be in the bughouse in a week."

A young couple living near Hardin walked twenty miles the other day to be married by a justice who said he would charge them only fifteen cents. For a wedding trip they walked back home again.

Here is the record of one Missouri boy: Irvine Hook, the 17 year-old son of J. N. Hook, living southwest of Fulton, operated a clover huller through the season of 1903-4 and netted the sum of $85.00.

Alex Still, who owns a cherry orchard near Stanberry, harvested one hundred and seventy-four bushels of the fruit this year and sold them all at a good price. One tree alone produced three bushels and one peck.

So many cups have been carried away from the public well at Ash Grove that the town blacksmith has just fashioned a drinking vessel of sheet iron a quarter of an inch thick and has fastened it to the well with a log chain.

A traveling man declares that about the loneliest Missouri town he ever visited was Welcome, while about the slowest was Quick City, and the driest town is Rundale. Then Louderville must be the quietest town in the state.

George Smith, a storekeeper at Hackner, Benton county, was before the United States commissioner at Clinton last week charged with selling whisky under guise of lemon extract. Smith confessed that the most lemon about his extract was the picture on the label.

Fine Berkshire Hogs.

The Democrat has just completed a fine booklet for Mayor Wm. Forman containing thirty pages relative to his noted breed of Berkshire hogs. Attorney Forman designates his herd as the "Clover Glen Herd," and the edition contains the pedigree and description of seventeen of his registered English Berkshires showing an ancestry of the most famous breeds in the country, going back to the well-known Hayter breed reared in White church, England.

The booklet is being mailed to breeders of thoroughbred stock all over the country, and while it is intended to advertise Mr. Forman's herd it also shows to the stockmen of the country that Morgan County is quite up to the times in the matter of pedigreed hogs. Besides the pedigrees and descriptions the book also contains a gestation table and other important matters interesting to hog raisers.

The Clover Glen Herd is managed by James L. Vaughan on Mr. Forman's farm in the south suburbs of this city and the Berkshires are simply pictures of beauty of which any breeder might feel proud. The ranch contains over two hundred acres, fenced and cross-fenced for hog breeding, has plenty of range and pure water, and the herd receives every attention so that disease germs may have no place among them. This class of stock raising is gratifying, indeed, and Mr. Forman has sent many of his fine thoroughbreds to different parts of the country. It brings our city and county into prominence with men of high standing in the breeding world and we hope this large consignment of booklets will aid in disposing of all the Berkshires our Mayor can spare from his noted herd.

Tooting Your Own Horn.

If you too your little tooter and then lay aside your horn,
In ten short days there's not a soul
will know that you were born.
The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who plows all day,
And the man who keeps a humpin' is
the man who makes it pay.

The man who advertises with a short
and sudden jerk
Is the man who blames the editor because it didn't work.

The man who gets the business has a long and steady pull,
And keeps his local paper from week
to week quite full.

He plans his advertising in a thoughtful sort of way,

And keeps forever at it until he makes
it pay;

He has faith in all the future; can withstand a sudden shock,
And like the man of Scripture, plants
his business on a rock.

If he can't write good copy, he employs a man who can.

And the other fellow in his line is classed as "also ran."

You can't fool the people always—they've been a long time born,
And most folks know the man is slow
who tooteth not his horn.
